Locally Grown Culinary Oils

Hawaii's top chefs and home cooks prefer Maiden Hawaii Naturals premium culinary oils, made with locally grown ingredients including sunflowers we sustainably farm on Maui. Most conventional oils are heavily processed at high temperatures and with harsh chemicals to extract the oil and extend the shelf life; those refined oils are clear, odorless and depleted of nutrients. Our oils are produced naturally: we mechanically crush the nuts and seeds with no additives or preservatives, retaining the oil's nutrients, flavor, aroma and color. Our oils are produced, filtered and bottled at our mill on Hawaii Island. Learn more at MaidenHawaiiNaturals.com or Social: @maidenhawaiinaturals.

Maiden Hawaii Naturals, LLC was created by Maui's renewable energy pioneers, Bob and Kelly King. Their company Pacific Biodiesel recycles waste cooking oils from restaurants statewide for use in the production of clean biodiesel. Now our locally made culinary oils are offered to Hawaii's chefs and the used cooking oil will be recycled to produce a 100% renewable fuel for a cleaner, greener Hawaii – that's full circle sustainability!

Sunflower Pesto

Featuring Maui Sunflower Oil

Compliments of Executive Chef Taylor Ponte

1 cup sunflower seeds
3 TBS white balsamic vinegar
2 ea garlic clove
1 cup basil
1 cup parsley
1/2 cup Maiden Hawaii Naturals Maui
Sunflower oil
1/2 cup parmesan cheese

- Combine all in blender until smooth.

"This oil reminds me of Spring. It has a nutty flavor, finishes nice and round with high aromatic notes of alfalfa. It has a great smoke point and is versatile to cook with. I love that it's from Maui and it's sustainable." – Chef Taylor Ponte

Executive Chef Taylor Ponte was named Maui's 2020 Chef of the Year by Maui No Ka Oi Magazine at the 'Aipono Awards. A graduate of Maui Culinary Academy, he worked alongside Chef Alan Wong, Chef Jonathan Mizukami, and Chef Jeff Scheer prior to becoming the Executive Chef at The Mill House. He is also the chef/owner of Kamado Maui, offering private and pop-up culinary events. Ponte grew up on the island of Maui, alongside farmers he now works with, and showcases locally sourced ingredients that make his food so uniquely Maui.

Fruity Brunch Salad

Featuring Hawaiian Macadamia Oil

Recipe provided by Lee of The Rogue Brussel Sprout

Ingredients:

- 3 tbsp fresh-squeezed tangerine juice
- 1 tbsp Maiden Hawaii Naturals Macadamia Oil
- 1 tbsp maple syrup
- Very generous flaky sea salt and freshly ground black pepper
- Small head of radicchio
- Romaine heart
- Cup or two of baby spinach
- Various fruit of choice (shown here: mango, green kiwi, red kiwi, Ojai pixie tangerines, kumquots, mandarinquats, dragonfruit, and blueberries)
- Handful of sunflower sprouts

Directions:

- In a large mixing bowl, combine the dressing ingredients (tangerine juice, macadamia oil, maple syrup, salt, and pepper) and mix well.
- Cut the radicchio into thin ribbons and add it to the dressing. Toss well. Let the radicchio sit in the dressing while you cut up the fruit; this will help it to tenderize and mellow. Don't add the other greens yet since you don't want them to get soggy!
- Prepare your fruit as needed by peeling, slicing, removing seeds, etc.
- When you're ready to serve, cut the romaine into thin ribbons and add it to the radicchio. Add the spinach and toss.
- Transfer the greens to a serving platter and top with your sliced fruit.
- Finish it off with a handful of sprouts scattered across the top.

This salad is a light, versatile, show-stopping brunch dish that celebrates the magic of fresh produce. An abundance of fruit (choose what you love most!) is complemented by bitter radicchio and luscious Maiden Hawaii Naturals Macadamia Oil for a well-rounded dish that would be a welcome addition to any spring or summer brunch spread.

Sunflower Tortilla Strips

Featuring Maui Sunflower Oil

Recipe provided by Lee of The Rogue Brussel Sprout

- Cut several corn tortillas into long strips using a sharp knife or pizza slicer
- Using Maui Sunflower Oil, toast strips in a very generously-oiled skillet over medium/high heat until crisp and browned
- Flip and toast the other side
- As soon as the strips are done, salt both sides generously
- Work in batches as needed, since each chip needs full contact with the skillet
- Set completed chips on a cooling rack so they stay crisp
- Use them to top your favorite salads; they add great crunch

Fruity & Nutty Spring Kale Salad

Featuring Hawaiian Macadamia Oil

Recipe provided by Lee of The Rogue Brussel Sprout

Ingredients:

- 2 tbsp fresh-squeezed orange juice
- 1 tbsp Maiden Hawaii Naturals Macadamia Oil
- Generous flaky sea salt, like fleur de sel
- Two bunches of Lacinato (or “dinosaur”) kale
- Half a head of radicchio
- Large handful of kumquats and/or mandarinquots
- Large handful of blackberries
- 1-2 avocados
- Handful of roasted salted pistachios

Directions:

- In a large mixing bowl, whisk together the orange juice, macadamia oil, and a generous sprinkling of salt.
- Remove the ribs from the kale and cut the leaves into thin ribbons.
- Add the kale ribbons to the mixing bowl and give them a vigorous massage in the dressing.
- Slice the radicchio into thin ribbons, making sure not to include the stem. Add the radicchio to the kale and toss well.
- Let it all sit for five minutes to let the kale and radicchio marinate in the dressing.
- Meanwhile, slice the kumquats, mandarinquots, and avocado.
- Transfer the kale and radicchio to a serving platter. Top with the sliced citrus and avocado, as well as blackberries and pistachios. Finish it off with another sprinkle of flaky salt and serve immediately.

Our Favorite Carrot Cake

Featuring Maui Sunflower Oil

Recipe adapted by Pacific Biodiesel's Emily Villanueva

INGREDIENTS:

- 4 large eggs
- 1 Cup granulated sugar
- ¾ Cup brown sugar
- 2 tsp Tahitian vanilla extract
- ¾ Cup melted & cooled unsalted butter
- ¾ Cup Maui Sunflower Oil
- 2 Cups all purpose flour
- 2 tsp baking powder
- 1 tsp baking soda
- 1 ½ tsp salt
- 2 tsp cinnamon
- 1/8 tsp allspice
- 4 Cups grated carrots
- ¾ Cup dried cranberries
- ¾ Cup diced fresh pineapple (or canned)
- 1 Cup chopped walnuts

DIRECTIONS:

- Preheat oven to 350° F
- In large bowl, mix together eggs, sugars and vanilla extract. Add melted butter and sunflower oil; mix well to combine.
- In separate bowl combine dry ingredients through allspice. Stir until just mixed. Stir in carrots, cranberries, pineapple and walnuts. Pour into a 13x9" pan or two standard round cake pans, lightly coated with sunflower oil and floured.
- Bake 40 to 50 minutes until toothpick inserted into the center comes out clean. Allow to cool before frosting.

Lasagna Style Luau Stew

Featuring Hawaiian Macadamia Oil

Compliments of our customer Mele Kalama-Kingma

- Coat bottom of crockpot with local macadamia nut oil by @maidenhawaiinaturals
- Protein of choice; preferably Organic + local
- Aloha Tofu (local)
- Pa'akai - Salt the protein or tofu
- Can add in half chopped onion
- Cut luau leaves (one bag - find these at Foodland) and add on top protein
- Cube sweet potatoes, ulu, carrots or whatever you want on top luau leaves
- Cover with two cans coconut milk
- Scoop of local bone broth by @foragehawaii or organic bouillon to taste

Set crockpot to high for 6 hours... I heard instapot can do in 1 hour 😊 but for some reason this process reminds of da imu style cooking in which flavor ages with time and I like watching em cook.

"If we want to help Hawai'i, if we want to see independence from foreign control - start with what we eat. Eating local supports farmers, encourages land preservation and provides jobs that can actually FEED people. It won't be perfect, and it won't be convenient. It may cost more, it may take time to plan. It will be slow, like a slow cooker that increases in flavor and ages well with time. That's the future for Hawai'i."

Roasted Pineapple-Tamarind Vinaigrette

Featuring Maui Sunflower Oil

Recipe provided by Chef Travis Morrin

INGREDIENTS:

- 1 c. (packed) roasted Pineapple Chunks (see instructions below)
- 1 tbsp raw local sugar
- 1/2 c. Pineapple Juice
- 1/4 c. Agave (vegan) Sweetener
- 12 oz. bottle of Maui Sunflower Oil
- 1/3 c. Tamarind Paste
- Bunch of fresh Mint
- 1 heaping tbsp. of chopped fresh Ginger
- 2 tbsp. fresh Red Onion
- 1/2 c. Rice Wine Vinegar
- 1 tsp. Yellow Mustard Powder
- 1 tsp. Salt + Pepper mix (to taste). YIELD:1 Quart

Fork & Salad Co-Founder, Chef Travis Morrin

DIRECTIONS:

- Dice a Maui Gold pineapple into large pieces, toss 1 cup's worth in local cane sugar & roast in an oven preheated at 400 degrees for 15 minutes, until caramelized.
- Add roasted pineapple with juices, red onion, ginger, tamarind, agave, pineapple juice, rice wine vinegar, yellow mustard powder, salt & pepper to blender.
- Blend for 1 minute, then carefully remove blender lid and stream in Maui Sunflower Oil until fully emulsified (combined with other components). Replace blender lid & turn on high for last 5-10 seconds. Consistency should be slightly thickened & coat the back of a spoon.
- Keep in the refrigerator for up to 2 weeks. Enjoy and #EatLocalEatHealthy

Macadamia Ice Cream & Brittle

Featuring Hawaiian Macadamia Oil

Recipe provided by Chef Carol Wallack

ICE CREAM

6 egg yolks
2 cups whole milk
1 cup heavy cream
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup. Maiden Hawaii Naturals Hawaiian Macadamia oil
1/4 cup honey
1/2 tsp salt
1/2 tsp vanilla extract

Heat the milk, cream, 1/4 cup of the sugar, salt and the honey in a sauce pan. In a separate bowl, combine egg yolks and the remaining 1/4 cup of sugar. Once milk mixture is hot, ladle a small amount into the egg mixture and whisk it in to incorporate so the eggs don't cook. Add some more to continue to temper the eggs. Then return the egg mixture to the sauce pan with the rest of cream mixture and turn flame down to low. Continue to stir until it gets thicker and coats the back of a spoon.

Remove from heat and add the macadamia nut oil and the vanilla. Strain and cool over night in the refrigerator.

Make the brittle and set aside to cool (see recipe next page). Once cooled, chop it up into small bite size pieces to be added to the ice cream.

Place a bowl in the refrigerator to be used for folding in the brittle.

Give the base mix a good stir, as the oil may have separated a little bit. Spin the ice cream according to manufacturers instructions. It should take 20-25 minutes. The ice cream will be thickened and moving from the sides of the bowl.

Put chopped brittle into the chilled bowl. Add the ice cream as it's finished in the ice cream maker and fold in the brittle.

Put into a freezer safe container to freeze for at least 4 hours before serving.

MACADAMIA NUT BRITTLE

1/2 cup granulated sugar
1/4 cup hot water
1/4 cup light corn syrup
3/4 cup roasted macadamia nuts
1 tbsp butter, at room temperature
1/2 tsp salt
1/4 tsp baking soda
1/4 tsp vanilla extract

Line a half sheet pan with a silpat (nonstick silicone baking mat).

In a 3 quart heavy saucepan over medium heat, dissolve sugar, water and corn syrup. Stir in macadamias with a wooden spoon and stir over heat until a light caramel forms, approximately 4 minutes.

Meanwhile, put butter, salt vanilla and baking soda in a bowl. When the syrup reaches the light caramel stage, pour the contents of the bowl into the pot. Remove from the heat and stir. The baking soda will darken the caramel. Spread the caramel on a silpat. Let it harden and cool. Once it does, cut into chunks for the ice cream. Set aside.

Carol Wallack was the owner and executive chef of Sola restaurant in Chicago, garnering awards as one of Chicago's best new restaurants (2007) and best chefs (2009) among many other culinary industry accolades. Her cuisine at Sola featured Hawaiian flavors and traditions with midwestern sensibility, expressing her love of the Hawaiian islands. Now retired on Maui, she enjoys creating ice cream flavors (a passion she discovered at Sola), making cookies, an occasional catering job, enjoying beach life and raising her pup, Edie. She also serves on the Board of Maui Huliau Foundation.

KONA KANPACHI POKE BOWL

RECIPE COURTESY OF CHEF RON MILLER

PHOTOGRAPHY BY KERI COOPER

INGREDIENTS:

3 ounces Kona Kanpachi, diced
2 tablespoons avocado, diced
1 tablespoon cucumber, diced
1 teaspoon green onion, chopped
pinch Hawaiian salt
1 tablespoon yuzu limu vinaigrette (recipe below)
2 ounces macadamia nut rice (recipe below)
Yuzu Kosho aioli (recipe below)
Wasabi tobiko

METHOD:

To marinate the Kanpachi combine with avocado, cucumber, green onion, and one tablespoon yuzu limu vinaigrette.

Assemble the poke bowl by placing half a cup of rice in a serving bowl. Top with marinated fish mixture, and garnish with yuzu Kosho aioli and wasabi tobiko.

YUZU LIMU VINAIGRETTE INGREDIENTS:

1 teaspoon limu, diced
1/4 cup sunflower oil
1/4 cup white soy sauce
1/4 cup rice vinegar
1/4 cup yuzu

VINAIGRETTE METHOD:

Combine all ingredients in a bowl and whisk. Stir well before each use.

MACADAMIA NUT RICE INGREDIENTS:

1 cup cooked white rice
1 tablespoon toasted macadamia nuts, diced
1 teaspoon macadamia nut oil

MACADAMIA NUT RICE METHOD:

Cook white rice in a rice pot - 1 cup rice to 1 1/4 cups water - making sure to rinse rice thoroughly before cooking. Once cooked, add the toasted macadamia nuts, the macadamia nut oil and a pinch of salt. Mix well. Store at room temperature.

YUZU KOSHO AIOLI INGREDIENTS:

1 each egg
3/4 cup sunflower oil
1/2 teaspoon garlic
1/2 teaspoon dijon mustard
2 teaspoons yuzu juice
pinch salt
1/4 teaspoon yuzu Kosho

Chef/Owner Ron Miller began his Hukilau Lanai journey as Executive Chef in 2002 when the restaurant opened. At that time, Ron began searching for interesting local products to serve. Exciting new partnerships were formed, many of whom still contribute to the menu today. Sixteen years later the small produce farmers and local artisans abound, and the possibilities seem endless. Local fisher-people have always played a starring role on the Hukilau Lanai menu. The restaurant is a certified member of the Monterey Aquarium Seafood Watch Program, which helps guide consumers and buyers to sustainable seafood buying choices. When choosing a product, Chef Ron strives to source Kauai first, neighbor island second, and mainland last. Hukilau Lanai has always been a collaborative effort, and a talented and dedicated kitchen staff help keep consistent quality at the forefront. Most nights, Ron can be found where he likes it best, working the line in the kitchen.

RON MILLER, HUKILAU LANAI

1. How important is sourcing locally made oil to your business for self sustainability factor?

We work hard to find and use local products at Hukilau Lanai. Produce, fish and meats are all pretty easy to get our hands on. This is the first cooking oil produced in Hawaii that I have used. Each year (we're 16 years old this month) there seems to be more products available. Of course quality trumps all, so we can't use a local product unless it is of high quality. I believe we have it with both oils.

2. How did you use the oil? Be specific to sunflower oil or macadamia nut oil.

I made a Kona Kanpachi Poke Bowl using both oils. The Kanpachi poke was tossed with avocado, cucumber, onion, limu and a yuzu, white soy & sunflower oil vinaigrette. It was served on a bed of macadamia nut rice which was infused with the macadamia nut oil. The raw fish was topped with a yuzu kosho aioli made with the sunflower oil.

3. Please describe the macadamia nut oil and sunflower oil's appearance, scent, texture, and taste, both raw and cooked. One or two word descriptions are fine. If a certain quality stands out, please elaborate.

The macadamia nut oil is crazy flavorful. It does to macadamia nuts what sesame oil does to sesame seeds. Neat toasted nutty cacao flavor really comes through. The macadamia nut oil is a great flavor enhancer. I added a tablespoon of oil to two cups cooked (warm) rice with toasted diced macadamia nuts and a pinch of salt. This was the bed for the poke bowl. The clear oil has a brown hue and is slightly viscous similar to sesame oil. Cooking the macadamia nut oil broke it down rapidly. I see it being a finishing oil more than a cooking oil.

The sunflower oil is a pretty yellowish green color. It has a similar viscosity to olive oil. It has a rich somewhat green flavor that I would compare to some California olive oils. The rich green earthy flavor was really accentuated when I used it to make the aioli. The oil stood up well to heat. I seared some fresh fish in it and was really pleased with the result. I can see using this oil as a cooking medium.

4. Did you find anything surprising about the oils?

I was surprised at the complex flavors of both oils. They couldn't be more different from one another. The macadamia nut oil has so much going on. I shared a blind taste with several sous chefs and cooks. I wish you could have seen their expressions. They lit up, smiled, and said, "Wow! What is that?" They too were impressed.

ROASTED CABBAGE

RECIPE COURTESY OF LEE ANNE WONG

PHOTOGRAPHY BY BARRY FRANKEL

Serves 4-6

INGREDIENTS:

½ head green cabbage, cut in quarters, core still attached

2 tablespoons macadamia nut oil, plus one teaspoon fine Hawaiian sea salt

¼ cup macadamia nuts, freshly toasted

½ cup cilantro leaves, minced

1 tablespoon fresh lemon juice

METHOD:

Use a pastry brush to coat both sides of the cut cabbage with the 2 tablespoons of macadamia nut oil. Sprinkle the cabbage generously with the sea salt and roast on a parchment lined baking tray at 425F for 15-20 minutes, until the cabbage begins to color at the edges and is tender when cut.

In a food processor or using a mortar and pestle, pulse the toasted macadamia nuts until they begin to resemble crumbs and add in the cilantro until well combined. Then add the lemon juice, 1 teaspoon of macadamia nut oil and salt to taste. Sprinkle the mixture atop of the roasted cabbage. Serve immediately.

*Alternatively, you can add a Hawaiian chili pepper and some chopped green onion whites (1/4 cup) to the macadamia nuts, cilantro, lemon juice, macadamia nut oil and salt. Pulse together in a food processor or muddle in a mortar and pestle.

Lee Anne Wong is the chef and owner of Koko Head Cafe in Honolulu, Hawaii. A native of Troy, New York, Wong graduated from the International Culinary Center (ICC) and began her culinary training at Marcus Samuelsson's Aquavit before playing an integral role in the opening of Jean Georges Vongrichen's Chinese concept, Restaurant 66. Wong went on to work as the Executive Chef of Event Operations at ICC, during which time she was prominently featured on Season One of Bravo's Flagship Series "Top Chef", and subsequently was hired as the series' Supervising Culinary Producer for the next 6 seasons. Wong has also been featured on numerous food television series in addition to starring in her own web series The Wong Way to Cook on bravotv.com.

In 2013, Wong moved from New York City to Honolulu where she debuted Koko Head Cafe to popular acclaim. Wong released her first cookbook, Dumplings All Day Wong, in August 2014. Chef Wong continues to expand her brand across the globe, joining the culinary team for Hawaiian Airlines in 2015, and debuting Sweetcatch Poke in NYC in the fall of 2016. She was most recently named Hawaiian Airline's new Executive Chef, with her menus set to debut in June 2018.

CHEF LEE ANNE WONG

1. How important is sourcing locally made oil to your business for self sustainability factor?

At Koko Head Cafe, we strive to showcase as many local ingredients as possible. The reality is there is always a cost factor, with local product sometimes being more expensive than imported commodity goods. Understand that not only are you getting the freshest product possible, you are also supporting a community member and business. Sustainability and food security start with the community working together to create a dynamic and intricate web of relationships. I love discovering new products made here in Hawaii, and getting to meet the people behind them. The fact that these oils are high quality and have multiple health and beauty benefits makes their value inherent.

2. How did you use the oil? Be specific to sunflower oil or macadamia nut oil.

I used the sunflower oil for sautéing sliced leeks. Traditionally, I use butter, haha, but I loved the result when using the sunflower oil; the leek flavor came through cleanly. I used the macadamia nut oil for roasting cabbage in the oven. The result was simple but stunning.

3. Please describe the macadamia nut oil and sunflower oil's appearance, scent, texture, and taste, both raw and cooked. One or two word descriptions are fine. If a certain quality stands out, please elaborate.

The macadamia nut oil is delightfully complex. Medium viscosity, fresh aroma of coffee and cacao mixed with the essence of a blonde raw nut. When it cooks it deepens in flavor as a macadamia nut would, becoming nuttier, more roasty.

The sunflower oil is very similar to a fresh young olive oil with plenty of grassy and green notes. It stands up well to heat and allows whatever you are cooking to shine through flavor wise.

I would use both for raw and cooked applications.

4. Did you find anything surprising about the oils?

After doing some research, discovering the health benefits of both oils makes me reconsider utilizing these in my fats wheelhouse at home. I already use macadamia nut oil at the restaurant but this particular oil was less refined and had more character and flavor. The sunflower oil is an everyday use type for me so I'm excited to cook with it more.

High Protein Bread with Mac Nut oil

Use organic ingredients if possible

Makes 2 loaves

Mix 2 x 2 1/4t packets (standard packet size) of yeast with warm water

blend 2 ¼ C water with

1 C vital wheat gluten

2 T organic cane sugar

1/2 C mac nuts

Add to the yeast water mix and stir

Gather in mixing bowl

2.5 C wheat flour

4 C all-purpose flour

1/2 C hemp seeds

1 C oats

1/4 C chia seeds

1/2 C mac nuts

1.5 T salt

1/4 C Maiden Hawaii Naturals Macadamia Nut oil

-Knead by hand or in bread mixer with hook for 10 minutes, add additional water or flour if necessary.

-Oil the dough ball and cover and let rise in bowl for 1 hour somewhere warm or until doubled

- Cut dough into 2 equal pieces and roll so the seam disappears

- Flatten into well-oiled bread pans and let rise again somewhere warm until doubled

Bake at 300 for 35-40 minutes with convection fan on. If you don't have a convection oven, they might require an additional 10-15 minutes.

MAUI TROUT AND SHRIMP SATE WITH KAFFIR LIME AND TURMERIC MAUI MAC NUT OIL AIOLI WITH SPICY RED CHILI AND TOASTED COCONUT FLAKES

MAKES 15-20 1.5 OZ PCS

Fish and Shrimp Sate

Ingredients

10 oz / 250 grams shrimp, cleaned and deveined
10 oz / 250 grams Maui Trout or any firm white flesh fillet
2 tablespoons palm sugar
2 egg whites
1 tsp salt depending on shrimp and fish.
10-12 pieces kaffir lime leaves, thinly sliced and finely chopped
2 oz / 50 grams desiccated toasted coconut
Blend proteins with egg whites, sugar and salt until smooth. Fold in kaffir leaves and coconut.

Flavoring Ingredients

4 finely chopped shallots
2 cloves minced garlic
1/2 inch fresh turmeric
1/2 inch peeled ginger
1 teaspoon toasted and coarsely ground coriander seeds
Mince all ingredients in mortar & pestle into a smooth paste.

For Garnish - Mac Nut Oil Aioli with Red Chile

Ingredients

2 egg yolks
2 oz lemon juice
2-4 pcs minced garlic
8-12 oz Mac Nut Oil to thicken
1 oz finely chopped basil or green onion
6 Red Chilies (optional)
1 TBSP Tomato Paste for color (optional)
Salt and sugar to taste

Preparation

Wooden popsicle sticks, bamboo skewers, or fresh lemongrass for skewers
2 oz / 50 grams desiccated toasted coconut

Add cold processed flavoring ingredients to smooth blended forcemeat until sticky and emulsified.

Hint: Use the pulse feature on a food processor and scrape sides frequently to incorporate.

Cook small sample to taste and adjust seasoning. Keep mixture ice cold.
Process Aioli into fine thick consistency. Adjust for seasoning. (Chiles and tomato paste are optional.)

Form and fasten 1 oz portion of fish/shrimp paste on one end of dampened skewers using wet hands.

Cook quickly over hot BBQ charcoal grill or sauté until browned to cook: 2-3 minutes.

Service: Dab with 1/2 tsp aioli and garnish with toasted coconut.

1/4 cup water

Process- cut cucumbers and carrots to desired size. Combine all pickling liquid items and bring to a boil. Once boiling pour over cut veggies. Let steep in in pickle liquid for 2 day minimum.

Toss the sliced items in the dressing. To serve, smear each plate with rosemary mayo. Place a serving of the dressed sliced ingredients and pickled items. Top with garnish.

BAKED MOLOKAI PURPLE SWEET POTATO CHIPS

RECIPE COURTESY OF CHEF JANA MCMAHON

PHOTOGRAPHY BY CHEF JANA MCMAHON

INGREDIENTS:

2 Molokai purple sweet potatoes, scrubbed and sliced 1/8" thick
(if you can't find these potatoes, orange ones work too)

2 tablespoons sunflower oil

1/2 teaspoon sea salt

METHOD:

Preheat the oven to 400F.

Line 2 sheet pans with parchment. Divide sweet potato slices between 2 sheet pans.

Drizzle sunflower oil, toss and arrange the sweet potato slices in a single layer on each baking sheet.

Bake for 20-25 minutes. Flip chips once, 10 minutes into baking time.

Sprinkle with sea salt and serve.

CHEF JANA MCMAHON

1. How important is sourcing locally made oil to your business for self sustainability factor?

Excited to have a locally made oil. Enjoy sharing all locally produced product with clients.

Concerned about the high omega 6 fats in the sunflower oil, but can off set that by consciously combining the food prepared with the high omega 6 oil with a high omega 3 ingredient.

2. How did you use the oil? Be specific to sunflower oil or macadamia nut oil.

Sunflower oil made some super delicious Molokai purple sweet potato chips. Complimented them with a high omega 3 dip with walnuts, sardines, olive oil, lemon, garlic and salt.

Macadamia nut oil made a beautiful salad dressing. Paired the macadamia nut oil with fresh passionfruit juice, rice wine vinegar, honey and sea salt. Also made a really good simple sherry vinaigrette with the macadamia nut oil.

3. Please describe the macadamia nut oil and sunflower oil's appearance, scent, texture, and taste, both raw and cooked. One or two word descriptions are fine. If ascertain quality stands out, please elaborate.

Sunflower oil: clean taste, subtle sunflower seed scent and flavor.

Macadamia Nut oil: more viscous, umami scent and flavor from nut flavor profile.

Both oils have a predominate nut like flavor.

4. Did you find anything surprising about the oils?

No surprises. Sunflower oil is very versatile.
